

Software License Agreement

Service information updated October 3, 2026 | Software terms originally updated September 26, 2026

Read before installation or use

This End User License Agreement ("Agreement") is between FarmerMind AI LLC ("FarmerMind") and you or the organization you are authorized to represent. It governs the FarmerMind software edition you obtain, including its application code, bundled models and knowledge, documentation and updates. Accept this Agreement through the applicable installation or purchase process before using the software. If you do not accept, do not install or use it; consult the purchase channel about available remedies.

1. A downloadable agricultural software suite

FarmerMind runs as application software on supported Windows and Android devices. "Operating system" or "OS" is a product description for the integrated suite, not a promise to replace Windows or Android. Available functions, requirements and permissions depend on the installed edition and release.

2. License grant

Subject to this Agreement and any applicable purchase terms, FarmerMind grants you a limited, non-exclusive license to install and run a lawfully obtained copy on compatible devices you own or control, for personal, internal business, educational, research or extension work. Any device, account, seat or duration limits explicitly stated in the applicable store or purchase terms control. You may keep reasonable backup copies as permitted by the distribution channel.

3. Ownership and permitted output use

The software is licensed, not sold. FarmerMind and its licensors retain their rights in the software, branding and protected materials. You retain your rights in your original farm records, photographs and other content. You may use and share generated reports and outputs for your lawful farming, research, educational and business purposes, subject to third-party rights. FarmerMind does not promise that AI output is unique or eligible for intellectual-property protection.

4. Your devices remain yours

This Agreement does not prohibit you from installing unrelated software, choosing peripherals, maintaining your operating system or otherwise using your own device lawfully. It grants no right to distribute FarmerMind software, share a paid entitlement, or bypass FarmerMind authentication or licensing controls.

5. Use restrictions

Do not unlawfully redistribute, sell, sublicense or impersonate the software; remove proprietary notices; introduce malware; access another person's records without authorization; or bypass security or licensing controls. Do not reverse engineer or modify protected software except where applicable law or a component's license permits it. Mandatory interoperability, research and other statutory rights are not removed by this Agreement.

6. Product functions and their limits

The suite brings together agricultural guidance and recordkeeping tools. Depending on release, these may include crop calendars, tasks, planning, farm management, farm health, reports, bookkeeping, weather and price references, yield estimates, post-harvest guidance and extension resources. Windows Rev474 does not enable offline or cloud image diagnosis or crop-photo contribution. Marketplace is the reviewed company and farmer directory described in the Privacy Policy. A named module does not guarantee a live data feed, automated service, expert availability or particular result.

7. Offline and connected operation

Bundled content, local records and previously cached information may be available without a connection. First installation, updates, new online data and connected account or website features require network access. Check timestamps, location and quality indicators before relying on information. There is no promise that every function works offline, that cached data is current, or that records automatically synchronize between devices.

8. Platform differences and integrations

Windows and Android are separate releases and may not have identical modules or integrations. Android does not include the Sensors module. Any Windows sensor functionality depends on the supported release, compatible equipment, configuration and available data. FarmerMind software is not a safety controller. Farm Books is bookkeeping, not a bank, wallet, custody or money-transfer service.

9. AI, translation and professional judgment

Outputs are decision support and can be wrong or incomplete. Translations and regional coverage vary. Confirm crop identity, units, location, dates and local conditions. Follow pesticide labels and local restrictions; obtain qualified advice for consequential agronomic, veterinary, financial, legal or safety decisions. The software does not guarantee diagnosis accuracy, yields, income, weather, eligibility for assistance or regulatory compliance.

10. Updates and availability

Obtain releases through FarmerMind's authorized download or store channels. Store settings, device compatibility and connectivity determine installation and timing. Updates may change functionality and requirements; read their notices. Preview, beta or planned functions are not commitments that a production feature will ship. Any purchased support or availability commitment remains governed by its express terms.

11. Data, permissions and security

The applicable Privacy Policy and feature-specific notices describe personal-information processing. Local records and online website accounts are different systems. Network requests, support submissions, purchases and connected services can transmit information off-device. Grant camera, location, storage or other permissions only as needed for functions you choose. This Agreement makes no blanket claim of full-device encryption or that all data always remains on-device.

12. Records and account responsibilities

Use authorized accounts, protect credentials and keep backups or exports where available. Uninstalling, clearing storage, device loss or reset may remove local records. Do not assume FarmerMind can restore them. You remain responsible for content you submit and for having permission to use it. This Agreement does not grant new consent for data sharing, marketing or model training.

13. Third-party components and services

Open-source components, models, datasets and other third-party materials may have their own license terms. Those terms control for the relevant component and are not restricted by this Agreement. Consult notices shipped with your release or contact info@farmermind.ai for applicable notices and any source materials required by their licenses. External websites, stores, suppliers and data providers operate under their own terms.

14. Fees, renewal and company advertising

A free download does not promise every current or future service will be free. Any fee, trial, renewal or cancellation condition must be shown in the applicable purchase flow. Cancel through the original purchase channel; uninstalling is not cancellation. Company advertising memberships are separate from a farmer's software license. Approval, membership, website publication and delivery inside Windows or Android are separate states. No audience size, ranking, clicks, leads or sales are guaranteed.

For the new workflow, a complete approved profile must be included in a published FarmerMind OS release. FarmerMind AI must confirm that publication and manually enter the trial start date on or after publication. The full eligible trial begins on that date: 30 days for a farmer or 90 days for a company. Application, approval and a website update do not start the clock. The start date is not backdated to the application or approval date. Submitting an application, approving a profile or publishing an OS release does not authorize a charge. A separate checkout must disclose the selected price, currency, taxes, first charge, renewal interval and cancellation terms and obtain billing consent. Checkout must preserve any remaining eligible trial rather than charge immediately or create a second trial. Existing subscriptions retain the terms accepted for those purchases.

15. Warranty and liability

Read the Software Warranty Policy. Except for applicable express commitments and non-excludable rights, the software and AI outputs are provided AS IS and AS AVAILABLE, without implied warranties of merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose, title or non-infringement to the extent permitted by law. FarmerMind does not guarantee uninterrupted or error-free operation or a particular farming outcome.

To the maximum extent permitted by law, FarmerMind and its licensors are not liable for indirect, incidental, consequential, special or punitive losses, including lost crops, profits, opportunities or data. Aggregate liability arising from this Agreement is limited to the greater of US$100 or the amount paid to FarmerMind for the software or service at issue in the preceding twelve months. These limits do not exclude liability for fraud, death or personal injury caused by negligence, or any other liability or remedy that cannot lawfully be limited.

16. Termination, transfer and compliance

You may stop using and uninstall the software. FarmerMind may suspend connected access or terminate this license for a material breach or where required by law, subject to mandatory notice, cure and consumer protections. On termination, stop using and delete licensed copies, while retaining your own records and any rights under component licenses. Transferring your device does not transfer a personal account or paid entitlement unless the applicable purchase terms allow it. Comply with applicable export-control and sanctions laws.

17. Related terms and dispute provisions

Texas law governs, except where mandatory law requires otherwise. The Terms of Use contain arbitration and class-action provisions in Section 18, including exceptions and an opt-out process. They apply only to the extent validly agreed and applicable to your transaction. This Agreement does not create a separate arbitration process or shorten an existing opt-out period. For standalone software, this Agreement controls installation and use; it does not alter privacy rights or accrued rights from earlier purchases.

18. Changes and contact

Material changes will be made available with an updated date and notified or presented for acceptance where required. Changes do not retroactively reduce accrued purchase rights. Applicable store terms and mandatory law remain effective. If a provision cannot be enforced, the remainder continues to the extent permitted.
